

CORPORATE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH KANSAS CITY

Editorial by Richard P. Groves, Executive Director of the North Kansas City Business Council

Rich Groves

It is hard to believe that “little ole North Kansas City” has so many businesses with headquarters here. But the list is impressive. There are 17 businesses I am aware of that fit the description of “home office in North Kansas City with employees or facilities in places outside of North Kansas City.” A few of them are very large and easy to guess - like Garney Construction, Helzberg Diamonds, Tnemec Company and Wagner Logistics. Among them are two very popular food/entertainment businesses: Chicken N Pickle and Kellan Restaurant Management (54th Street Grill). Here are descriptions of all 17 of them, in alphabetical order.

Chicken N Pickle

We all know about Chicken N Pickle in North Kansas City which was their first location, opening in 2016. Here are other locations that now have or soon will have a Chicken N Pickle in the order they were opened: Wichita, Kan.; San Antonio, Texas; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Overland Park, Kan.; Grand Prairie, Texas; Grapevine, Texas; Glendale, Ariz.; St. Charles, Mo.; Henderson, Nev.; and Webster, Texas. Locations in Allen, Texas, and Thornton, Colo., will open in 2025.

Chicken N Pickle describes itself as a family-friendly sports and games venue with a casual, chef-driven restaurant, bar with craft cocktails and local brews, pickleball courts and indoor/outdoor games for all ages and abilities in an atmosphere that fosters fun, friendship and community. Through their Our Hearts Are Local program, which focuses on creating philanthropic partnerships, they aim to strengthen their neighborhoods and beyond. Chicken N Pickle hosts dozens of charitable events annually and donates proceeds back to each of the communities they serve.

Chicken N Pickle now has 2,000 total employees with 131 of them in North Kansas City (restaurant + home office). Chicken N Pickle's founder is Dave Johnson. Brad Clarke is CEO and Kelli Alldredge is president. Visit chickennpickle.com more information.

Kellan Restaurant Management (54th Street Grill)

Most of us know and appreciate 54th Street Grill. There are four of them in the Northland if you include the one in St Joseph, and a total of eight in the Kansas City metro area, but none are actually in North Kansas City. Few people know that 54th Street Grill is owned and operated by Kellan Restaurant Management, Inc., based in North Kansas City at 1425 Swift. According to their website they "operate polished casual restaurants with both dining and bar seating offering an outstanding selection of great tasting scratch made food and Craft Cocktails. We are open daily for lunch and dinner. Our restaurants are comfortable and relaxed with a bit of a retro feel. You'll feel right at home while browsing our amazing range of 'Scratch Made' menu items that always keep guests coming back for more."

Owner Michael Norsworthy and his staff work at the North Kansas City headquarters office. Other 54th Street Grill locations are in St Louis metro (five units), San Antonio metro (nine units), Dallas/Fort Worth metro (seven units) and Austin metro (three units). This restaurant chain was founded in Kansas City, Mo., by Thomas E. Norsworthy. He envisioned a place that would appeal to both dining and bar customers but also offer the quality food and drinks that exceed national chain competitors. The result is an eclectic, retro style atmosphere that accommodates both a lively bar crowd and consistently crowded dining room, translating into a great experience for all types of patrons. Stor-Safe Warehouses/ iWerx

Stor-Safe Warehouses was created by John Miller, Sr., more than 50 years ago, starting with a storage unit business on Vivion Road. Then he had a vision to buy an under-utilized warehouse building in North Kansas City and offer customers a place to store bigger things like boats and RVs. He soon had great success with that location and bought another old building. And then another. Now Stor-Safe Warehouses owns six large buildings in North Kansas City.

A portion of the original building at 1501 Burlington was converted in 2017 into the co-working and entrepreneurial development center called iWerx (with the address of 1520 Clay) and an event center called The Pavilion at iWerx, which hosts many business-related events and workshops. Later, a second iWerx facility was opened in Gladstone. Several other Stor-Safe properties have been re-purposed in a variety of creative ways. Examples are: Garney Construction's corporate headquarters, RoKC Climbing gym, KC Blueprint & Planroom, Stew Langer's Glassmaster Studio, MyCo Planet LLC (urban mushroom farm), Flex Fitness, Precision Elements custom cabinet manufacturing and Lucky Elixir Beverage Company. THE COMMONS AT CINDER BLOCK

The following article originally appeared in The Pitch in an article by Jordan Baranowski titled, "Next Stop: Where we'll be ordering in 2025," and we wanted to share it with our North Kansas City Business Council readers.

Cinder Block Brewery at 110 E. 18th Ave has long been one of Kansas City's favorite brewery spots, and a new addition might be tipping the scales even further. The Commons is that upcoming addition: It's a 5,000 square foot space, connected to the existing Cinder Block Brewery location. The menu and general theme give off vibes of vintage National Park PSAs, so it looks like an ideal place to start a weekend adventure—or to set up camp for an all-day get-together with friends.

The Commons will feature a full bar, including several on-tap cocktails, mocktails, and guest beers, with a strong emphasis on locally-made spirits and beers. They'll even have a selection of slushies on hand.

Chandler Hottenstein—Cinder Block Brewery's Operations Manager—is excited to use the space to shine a spotlight on other local products, outside of Cinder Block's own beers.

"The cool thing about this addition is that you can pass through both spaces with drinks and food from either side and literally go block to block with drinks in hand," she says.

In addition to taps from several local breweries, The Commons will also play host to one of the best sandwich joints in town. Bay Boy Specialty Sandwiches will serve as a permanent, in-house kitchen, slinging a "greatest hits" menu of their delicious sandwiches to help you soak up those pints, with plans to create a few location-exclusive sandwiches down the line. If you've never experienced Bay Boy, you're in for a treat—Their sandwiches are packed with interesting flavors and served on Dutch crunch bread for an absolutely irresistible meal.

A huge section of the space at The Commons will be covered in turf, and there will be a number of yard games to play. In addition, you'll find skeeball, shuffleboard, pool tables, darts, and more. They plan on opening their doors mid-spring, and we plan on being there on day one to enjoy a pint of Pavers Porter and a Goldilox sandwich.
